Certain Investment Considerations

Purchase of the Notes may involve substantial risks and is suitable only for investors who have the knowledge and experience in financial and business matters necessary to enable them to evaluate the risks and the merits of an investment in the Notes. Prior to making an investment decision, you should consider carefully, in light of your own financial circumstances and investment objectives, all the information set forth in the documentation for the Notes and in this document, particularly the considerations set forth below. You should make such inquiries and consult with your own legal, regulatory, tax, business, investment, financial and accounting advisers as you deem necessary without relying on the Issuer or the Dealer.

Payment of principal and interest subject to Issuer default risk and not secured or guaranteed

If you invest in the Notes, you will be taking JPMorgan Chase & Co. credit risk. Repayment of your investment in the Note on redemption will be subject to Issuer default risk.

The Notes will not be guaranteed or otherwise supported by any other member of J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. group and will not be insured by any other governmental agency.

The obligations of the Issuer under the Notes are not, and will not be, secured. Consequently, if you invest in the Note, you will be an unsecured creditor of the Issuer and will have no recourse against any other member of the J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. group in the event of partial or total loss of your investment due to the Issuer's failure to perform any of its obligations under the Notes.

Mexican TIIE risk and Mexican Peso exchange risk

The Notes are denominated and, unless a Convertibility Event has occurred, payable in Mexican Pesos. Currency exchange rates may be volatile and will affect the return to the holder of the Notes of principal if their operative currency is a currency other than Mexican Pesos or a payment in U.S. dollars is made. The movement of the currency exchange rates could result in any U.S. dollar amount being less than the initial equivalent aggregate nominal amount invested.

Payment of the coupon amounts will be based on the performance of the 28-Day TIIE rate in Mexico. The 28-Day TIIE rate may be affected by macroeconomic factors, speculation and intervention by the Central Bank of Mexico and the Government of Mexico. Accordingly, fluctuations in the 28-Day TIIE rate will affect the amount of interest paid on the Notes.

The Government of Mexico can from time to time intervene in the foreign exchange market. These interventions or other governmental actions could adversely affect the value of the Notes in U.S. dollars, as well as the actual yield (in U.S. dollar terms) on the Notes and, if a payment in U.S. dollars is made, in the amount payable at maturity. Even in the absence of governmental action directly affecting currency exchange rates, political or economic developments in Mexico or elsewhere could lead to significant and sudden changes in the exchange rate between the Mexican Peso and the U.S. dollar.

No tax gross-up on payments

Repayment of all or any part of your investment in the Notes and payment at maturity of any additional amount due in respect of your Note will be made subject to applicable withholding taxes (if any). Consequently, the Issuer will not be required to pay any further amounts in respect of your Notes in the event that any taxes are levied on such repayment or payment.

Potential conflicts of interest

The Issuer and members of the J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. group may from time to time act in other capacities with regard to the Notes, including as Calculation Agent.

Because the Calculation Agent is an affiliate of the Issuer, potential conflicts of interest may exist between the Calculation Agent and the Noteholders of the Notes, including with respect to certain determinations and judgments that the Calculation Agent must make regarding the exchange rate, in certain circumstances if there is a Convertibility Event.
